

---

School of Integrative Plant Science
Crop and Soil Sciences Section

National awards presented to Cornell crop and soil scientists

The tri-societies, including the American Society of Agronomy (ASA), Soil Science Society of America (SSSA), and the Crop Science Society of America (CSSA) are presenting national awards at the national meetings in Minneapolis, MN, November 15-18, 2015. Cornell award recipients include professors Tim Setter, Peter Hobbs and Tony DiTommaso. Professor Harold van Es is the President-Elect for SSSA.

Tim Setter, Professor and Chair of the Section of Soil & Crop Sciences in the School of Integrative Plant Science at Cornell University, has been elected Fellow of the Crop Science Society of America 2015.

Peter Hobbs, Adjunct Professor in the Section of Soil & Crop Sciences in the School of Integrative Plant Science and Associate Director of the Academic Programs International Programs at Cornell University, has been elected Fellow of the American Society of Agronomy 2015 Award.

Tony DiTommaso, Professor in the Section of Soil & Crop Sciences in the School of Integrative Plant Science at Cornell University, was presented the Crop Science Society of America 2015 Teaching Award.

Harold van Es, Professor in the Section of Soil & Crop Sciences in the School of Integrative Plant Science at Cornell University, will be presiding as President-Elect of the Soil Science Society of America meetings. Read more about the SSSA.

The Tri-Societies are a group of international scientific societies whose more than 6,000 members are dedicated to advancing the field of soil and crop science and fostering the transfer of knowledge and practices to sustain global soils and crops. They consist of the American Society of Agronomy (ASA), the Crop Science Society of America (CSSA), and the Soil Science Society of Agronomy (SSSA). Read more about the Tri-Societies: ASA, CSSA, and SSSA.